Dried Apricots - Sulphured

Sulphured dried apricots are apricots that have been treated with sulphur dioxide during the drying process.

This treatment helps preserve their color, extend their shelf life, and prevent them from spoiling.

Sulphured dried apricots appear brighter and more appealing than unsulphured (sun-dried) apricots.

Dried Apricots - Sun Dried

Sun-dried apricots are dried under the sun. They transform into a dark brown color without any sulphur dioxide.

Sun-dried apricots are more tasty and sweeter comparing to sulphured apricots but they are less durable as no sulphur is used during production.

Sultanas

Raisins are one of the most special products bestowed by nature for centuries. Raisins provide significant benefits to the human body with its high nutritional value.

It contains high levels of potassium and calcium and some iron vitamin found in raisins. It stands out with its high nutritional value and its positive effects on the human body.
